

ROSEWOOD ESSENTIAL OIL (ANIBA ROSAEDORA)

Botanical name: Anica rosaedora

Botanical family: Lauraceae

Extraction Method: Essential oil is obtained by steam distillation of the wood chipped in small pieces

Origin: Brazil

Description: Rosewood is a massive tree which can grow up to 30 meters high and 2 meters in diameter. It is a tree native from the Brazil Amazonian forest. The whole tree is fragrant.

Color: Pale yellow liquid.

Common Uses:

The essential oil is mostly used in the perfume industry.

Consistency: Thin

Therapeutic & Emotional Benefits:

The essential oil mostly contains linalool. The health benefits of Rosewood Essential Oil properties are analgesic, antidepressant, antiseptic, aphrodisiac, antibacterial, cephalic, deodorant, stimulating.

This oil will lift your spirits and have a balancing action effect on the mind and body. It is used with good results in reducing headaches, colds, coughs, fever and infections and is a boost for the immune system.

Its aphrodisiac properties are highly appreciated. It is an excellent oil to use in skincare, as it sorts out dull, dry and oily skin, while having a cell stimulant and tissue regenerating action on the skin which promotes rejuvenation of the skin.